Letter to the People and Leadership of Denmark, and to the People of Greenland.

To the honorable people of Denmark,
To the respected leaders, elders, and guardians of the Denmark nation,
And to the beloved people of Greenland,

May peace, wisdom, and the grace of God be upon you all.

I write these words with humility and sincerity, guided by a deep respect for your history, your faith, and your shared responsibility before God and humanity. My intention is not to sow division, but to speak truth with calmness, restraint, and reverence, so that justice and wisdom may prevail over fear and aggression.

To the people and leadership of Denmark:

Do not allow yourselves to be shaken or intimidated by the threats and pressure issued by the American president Donald trump concerning Greenland. That land does not belong to him, nor does he possess any moral, divine, or legal authority to claim it. Neither under the law of God nor under international law does he have the right to demand dominion over a land that is not his.

Should he attempt to seize Greenland through military force, let it be known that such an act would not go unanswered. The judgment of God against injustice, oppression, and unlawful aggression is severe. History has shown, time and again, that those who wage war for greed rather than righteousness ultimately face consequences far greater than they imagined.

Therefore, I urge you: do not give power to his threats. Ignore his intimidation. You are not obligated to participate in negotiations, meetings, or phone calls driven by coercion and fear. Dialogue born from threats is not dialogue—it is submission. The proper time and manner for addressing this matter will be spoken of later, with clarity and purpose.

To the citizens of Greenland:

I am not unaware of your suffering. I know that the government of Denmark has not always treated you with fairness or dignity during the many years of control over your land. I acknowledge the shameful political decisions and the racist policies that have been imposed upon you throughout the years. Your pain has not been invisible, and your endurance has not gone unnoticed.

Yet hear this clearly and without doubt: President Donald trump and his nation are not a better alternative. His desire is not for your well-being, your freedom, or your future. It is not your lives he seeks to protect, but your land to exploit. It is the soil, the resources, and the strategic value of Greenland that draws his attention—not its people.

Those who come with threats and violence do not come as saviors. They come as conquerors.

God, however, has a greater plan for you. A plan not rooted in fear, bloodshed, or exploitation, but in justice, restoration, and dignity. Be patient and steadfast. Await God’s decision and His blessings, for His timing is perfect, and His judgment is righteous. No empire, no general, and no army stands above His will.

To all who read these words— Americans, Danish and Greenlanders alike—remember that power is temporary, but accountability before God is eternal. Choose wisdom over anger, restraint over violence, and faith over fear.

May God guide your hearts, protect the innocent, and lead all nations toward justice and peace.

Sincerely,

Saliel Ginninns
